Join MedBiquitous Working Groups

The MedBiquitous Activity Report, Competencies, Curriculum Inventory, and Professional Profile working groups recently launched and are still accepting new members. If you would like to participate in work related to these data standards, please contact medbiq@aamc.org.

MedBiquitous Community Connection Webinar Recordings

The recording of our July 20 webinar featuring Clem McDonald, MD, Chief Health Data Standards Officer of the National Library of Medicine/NIH, is now available here.

Dr. McDonald's presentation, "Health Data Standards for Care and Research," presented an overview of major coding systems and data exchange formats used in healthcare, and reflected on his pioneering history in health data standards development, and what recent policy changes may mean for the future. He explored what data standards are and how they can help to facilitate access and use by clinicians, patients, and researchers.

Additional presenters for our 2021 webinar season are still being announced. Details related to speakers and topics will be updated at <https://www.medbiq.org/mediapublications>.

The catalog of recorded presentations from the entire 2020 season is available here. Viewing the MedBiquitous Community Connection webinar recordings is free, but registration is required. Please use your primary AAMC account login and password to access the content.

T3 Innovation Network - Data and Technology Standards Network

The T3 Innovation Network posted the charter for their Data and Technology Standards Network.
