MedBiquitous 2020 Update

The call for proposals for MedBiquitous 2020 is now closed. Thank you to everyone who submitted a proposal for a session, poster, workshop, or digital demonstration. Submission review is currently underway.

As a reminder, MedBiquitous 2020 is an opportunity to network with colleagues from around the world and examine how digital technologies can promote continuous improvement and better outcomes across the continuum of health professions education.

Please visit MedBiquitous 2020 for details about the event, which will be held June 8-9 in New York.

MedBiquitous Webinar Series

On Jan. 21, 2020, MedBiquitous launched MedBiquitous Community Connection, a series of free one-hour webinars highlighting health professions educators and technology innovators from around the globe. Registration is required and free.

Our premiere episode, 2020 Vision: The History and Future of MedBiquitous, featured Dr. Johmarx Patton, AAMC Director of Educational Technology and Standards, and Valerie Smothers, Data Trust Administrator for Johns Hopkins Medicine. Highlights from the conversation include:

- Origin of the name “MedBiquitous”
- Memorable moments from MedBiquitous’ history
- Current data standards efforts
- New offerings from MedBiquitous
